LITTELL'S LIVING AGE,

E. LITTELL'S LIVING AGE,

E. LITTELL'S Co., cor. of Tremont and Breemfield streets, Boston.

This work is condusted in the spirit of Littell's Museum of Foreign Literature, (which was favorably reviewed by the public for twenty years,) but at it is twice as large; and appears so often, the editor not only gives spirit and freshness to it by many things which were oxcluded by a month's delay, but while thus extending his scope and gathering a greater and, more attractive variety, is although to increase the solid and substantial part of his literary, historical, and political harvest, as fully to entisty the wants of the American reader.

The clabrate and stately Essays of the Edinburgh; Contreiry, and other Reviews; and Bluckwood's noble criticisms on Poetry, his keen political Connecturies, highly wrough Tules, and vivid descriptions of rural and mountain Scenery; and the contributions to Literature, History, and Common't life, by the sagacious Spectator, the spatching Examiner, the judicious Athenaeum, the hard comprehensive literary Gazette, the scribbar made comprehensive Diseases; these majintermixed with the Military and Naval reminiscaves of the United Service, and with the best articles of the Dablin University, New Mouthly, France's, Tait's, Ainsportifi's, Hand's; and Sporting Minasianes, and of Clambeir's admirable Journal. The does not consider it beneath his dignity to borraw wit and wisdom from Panch 1 and, when he thinks it gold enough, makes use of the thunder of the Times.

The steamship has brought Eorope, Asia, and ames, and of Chembers' admiration Janual. The does not consider it beneath his dignity to berraw wit and wisdom from Pauch; and, when he thinks it good enough, mixes use of the thunder of the Times.

The steamship has brought Europe, Asia, and Africa, ictu our neighborhood; and will greatly multiply our consections, as Merchants, Travelera, and Politicianis, with all parts of the world; so that nuclei more than ever it now becomes every intelligent American to he informed of the condition and change of forcing countries. And this not only because, of their, nearer connection with socializes, but because the nations seem to be instaining, through a rapid process of change, its score new state of things, which the nearely political proper cannot compute or forces.

Longraphical Discoveries, the progress of Colimination, Judich is extending over the whole world; and Voyages and Travels, afford Avertic matter for his selections; and, in general, the editor systematically and very folly acquains his readers with the great department of Forcign at fairs, without neglecting our own.

While the Living Age is desirable to all who keep themselves informed of the rapid progress of the maxeman—to Statesmen, Divines, Lawyers, and Physicians—to one of business and bravels and resident to their wives and children. It is indispansable to every well-informed for the capitly attractive and useful to their wives and children. It is indispansable to every well-informed for the rapid progress of the maxeman that the formation and commendation, what is laid in mate and victors in merels, in any other way than by fundishing a sefficient supply of a healthy character. The mental and moral appetite must be gratified.

By "winnowing the wheat from the chaff," by providing abundantly for the imagination, and by a large collection of lingraphy, Voyages and Travelland, by E. Lattella Re. and the work to that amount, this has appeared to me to be the reset ascellant of the proper of the country, and to cap any recommendation, what our reade

WEONESDAY MORNING, BULY 17, 1860

The United States Citeuit Court Judges Weedbury and Pitman, met, by ad journment, yezioiday, et ilio Ocean House Hall; where the session will be held during ite continuence.

Immediately after the opening of the Court, James M. Clarke, Esq., U. S. Dis trict Attorney, arose and said-

May it please your Honors :- Since the last adjournment of this Court, a heavy calamity has failen upon this nation. President of the United States has died .-This melanchely event has aproad consternation through the country, and carried sorrow to every heart. Fallen greatness over awakens amotions of saduces; and when noble services and high character combine to assess the love and admiration of the people, public griaf assumes the in tonsity of private section, and the voice of izmentation is heard in the land.

consider it appropriate that I should call the attention of the Court to this affecting occurrence; and I now move your Honors that the Court do now adjourn, from respect to the memory of the late President of the United States.

Judge Wondhury said that the Court would not healtate to comply with the request which had been made, in consequence of the severe affliction which had been visited on the country. Judge Woodhury then ordered the Court in be adjourned un til Wednesday morning, at 10 o'clock.

We were not a little surprised that Judge Woodbury adjourned the Court, without responding to the sentiments of the District Attorney. We notice that he pursued the minte unusual course in Boston. What doealt mean ?

JENNY LIND.-A Paris letter of the 6th ult, in the New York Commercial Advertiser, says :

· Jenny Lind was received at Stockholm, on the 29d, olt, with all the honors due to the greatest artist of that kingdom. Bands of young girls dressed in white met her on disembarkation, with wreaths and garlands of rich, flowers. A committee of the inhabitants escorted her to a rich carriage in waiting. This was drawn by four splendid milk-white horses. An elegant apartment had been prepared for her at the best hotel, to which she was escorted by a large growd. At night, a torch light procession in her honor went through the streets. Next day the tickets for six concerts to be given by her were sold at auction, according to the custom there, and brought enermous prices.

A train of 23 large cars, half a mile in length, drawn by a single locomotive and carrying 1750 passengers, passed over the Hudson River Railroad one 'd fy last week"

WARRINGTON, July 13, 1850. The sun rose beautifully over the Eastorn bills, as the booming of cannon awak ened our citizens to the end reality of the solemn acene about to be enacted.

Every private residence and store was dressed in the suble circlems of mourning.

The Presidential moneion and the differ ent public buildings were all tastefully decorated with crapo and muslin. Torn your eyo where you would, there was something to impress you with the hnewledge that a ceremonial of no ordinary solemnity was about to take place.

The special trains of cars from Haltimare brought a vast number of citizens and military, and every avenue of approach to the city was lined from an early hour with crowds who were coming to pay their last respects to the deceased President. Never before, on any occasion, did the capital city of the Union contain as many people as now The grounds around the President's House, and the streets leading to it, are filled with

The doors of the Executive manuscr were opened at 9 o'clock, A. M. for the admission of the heads of departments, the foreign Millisters and others who, by order of the Committee of the two houses of Congress, were entitled to admission. The crowd in the meantime filled up avery avenue leading to the mansion not appropriated to the military and other bodies that were to take part in the procession.

The Senators and members of the House were in attendance by half past 10 o'clock. The usual badges of moutning were prepared by the proper efficers. The galleries of both chambers were crowded with ladies and gentlemen. At 11 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Butler offered an appropriate and impressive prayor, and the Sonature and momhere of the House withdraw to proceed to the President's mansion, who nee the civic and military procession was to move.

. The members of the Cabinet, the diplomatic corps, the pull bearers and the memhers of the two Houses of Congress, who could be admitted, occupied the East room Col. Bliss, Col. Taylor, of Baltimore, Col. Jefferson Davis, and other relatives of the late President, occupied positions near the remains.

As soon as all assembled, Rev. Smith Pyno, D. D., of the Pretestant Episcopal Church, performed the selemn and impressive burial service of that church, during which many an eye was moist, and many a sob was heard among the large assemblage.

An elequent and touching discourse was then delivered by the reverend gentleman The family of the deceased were within hearing.

The coffin rested on a raised platform, in with black velvet, the edges being of silver with huge silver tassels, looped with goldfringed buttons. The inscription on the coffin-plate is as fallows:

ZACHARY TAYLOR, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES. ÆT 66.

The countenance of the decoused is unchanged, though much amacinted. Mrs. Taylor would not consent to embalming the hady.

The services being concluded, the coffin was removed and extried out of the White House. It was then placed upon the funeral ear provided for the occasion. Near the car was the favorite war horse of the departed chieftain, "Old Whitey," appointed to follow the car to the place efinterment.

The funeral car was a plain hourse, on der a raised canopy beautifully trimined, the American engle being represented in the centre. It was drawn by eight dark grov horses with black bousings.

Ruch horse was led by a green in orien tal costume.

The troops were formed at precisely 11 o'clock, in the avenue North of the President's mansion, with the right, consisting of Brevet Major Sedgwick's treop of United Stotes light artillery, resting opposite the War Department.

The troops altogather consisted of a firing purty, of two companies from Washington | commences had changed, and that it was and two from Baltimore; one battalion of U. S. marines, one battalion of U. S. artillery, one troop of light artillery, and several other companies.

The procession moved at 2 c'clock, P M. As soon as it started, minute guns were fired by detachments of U.S. artillery sixtioned near St. John's Church, the City Hall, and the the Capitol, respectively.

A heavy discharge of cannon unnounced the starting of the procession.

All the troops from the different at slions within reasonable distance of Washington were in attendance. The whole of this portion of the procession was under the command of Major Ganeral Winfield Scott, commander-in-chief of the U.S. Army .-The officers and men of the pasy and the marine corps were also out in very unusual force. In their beliliant uniforms, with their muffled drums and badges of moutoing, this portion of the procession was unngoqqui lauza.

The procession was about one mile and a half long. Every window ulung Pennsylvania Avenue was occupied, and the concentree of appectators on the side walks

Gen. Taylor's favorite war-siced, "Old Whitey," led by a group, followed imme-diately after the funeral ear. He was housed in the same military trappings in which he carried his master through the victorious battles of Mexico.

The military portion of the procession was filteen minutes in passing the National He-

The heads of the Departments, the Forsign Ministers, &c., in carriages-the firemen and socioties on foot-were half an hour passing. There were from three to four thousand persons in the processionincluding about six hundred soldiers.

On arriving at the North point of the Congressional Burial Ground, the escent was formed in two lines-the first, consisting of the firing party, facing the cemetery. and thirty paces from it; the second, com posed of the rest of the infantry, 20 paces in the rear. The battery of artillery took possession of the rising ground, one hundred paces in the rear of the second line.

Casting the eye up Pennsylvania Aven up, the windows, balconies, house-tops and other points were seen densely accapied .--On each side of the spacious thoroughfare were compact lines of human beings.

There were one hundred and two backs isported in the procession, which occupied three fourths of an hour in passing.

The pagount exceeded every thing of the kind, in order and magnificence, that over took place in the metropolis. The arrangements of the marshal were perfect, and were carried out to the strict letter. 1500 military, an indefinite number of civil functionaries and societies, and a long line of carringes, made up the procession, which has never been exceeded in Washington.-It was truly a mournful day.

The pulitary portion of the procession was fifteen minutes in passing a given spot and the whole procession was three quarters of an hour.

The corpse having been consigned to the tomb, the salute was fired, and the procession returned to the city.

It is said that the remains of Gen. Tay lor will be taken to Kentucky for final interment.

An accident occurred during the firing of a salute. Wm. Allen, a member of the Junior Artillerists, had his arm lacerated and his face scorched, by being in front of the caunon when fired, accidentally, not being observed by those in command.

Howers were strowed along Pennsylvania Avenue for several hundred yaids leading from the White House.

Gen. Scott, when he arrived in the East roots, went over the hody of his distinguished companion in arms.
